SUNNY ITALY.

In the northern part of Italy there is very rich land. The farmers farm mostly in the northern part. The farmers raise corn, oats, oranges and rice where there are flood gates.

The people in Italy are very poor. Most of them live in only two rooms, one room below and one room above. The lower room is used as a kitchen and the upper room as a bedroom. The children sleep in the kitchen on the dirt floor and their parents sleep in the upper room on piles of hay. The people hire their baking done or bake on little stoves out doors. The people buy baked chestnuts of little boys who go through the streets with wagons. Macaroni is a great food for the people. In some stores macaroni is sold to boys who eat it on the streets.

The children work very hard. You can see a boy leading a goat or cow through the streets to sell people milk. And you can see a woman washing her baby or combing her hair out in the street. You can see a man eating macaroni out on the streets.

In Venice there are very many canals because Venice is built on hundreds of islands. The boys can jump from a window or door in the water and swim. The women wash down by the water.

Rome is the home of the Pope. His palace is more like a town than a home. It contains over ten thousand halls, chapels and chambers. There are miles of staircases and galleries, and hundreds of people to take care of it.

In Rome there is a large Catholic church called St. Peters. A whole army can worship in it at once and never be noticed by the visitors. In the dome there lives smiths, carpenters, painters and dwelling houses who spend their lives keeping this majestic cathedral in repair.

A MISSOURI "CASTLE" IS FALLING INTO RUIN.

The Blickensderfer mansion near Lebanon, erected years ago as the dream of a railroad building, now is falling into ruin. Once the mansion was a show place in South Missouri and contained rich furnishings.

HISTORY IN A "CASTLE"

A BUILDING NEAR LEBANON IS REMINDER OF GOLDEN ERA.

Now Going to Ruin, the Blickensderfer Mansion Once Was a Show Place—The Dream of a Railroad Builder.

(By The Star's Own Service.)

LEBANON, Mo., March 10.—High on a grassy knoll, with a huge unkempt lawn gently sloping down to a deserted country road, the slowly decaying mansion built more than half a century ago by Jacob Blickensderfer near here is a mute reminder of a castle in Spain which a pioneer of civilization sought to erect in the Ozarks.

Real estate men sometimes call it "Blickensderfer's Folly," but to the natives it is the "mansion house," and wondrous tales are told of the huge bakery in the basement, the gleaming walnut wainscoting, the observatory and the elaborate ceiling and panelings of the stately home on a 900-acre farm about a mile from Oakland and twelve miles east of Lebanon.

HISTORY IN THE HOUSE.

But the real story of the structure is more interesting than those told about it by credulous neighbors or persons who have glimpsed the house and allowed imaginations to run riot. For the Blickensderfer home was a "house of dreams," designed as a recreation for a man who had devoted his life to duty.

Jacob Blickensderfer was a member of the vanguard of empire builders. He forged his structures with iron rails that linked a vast continent. For forty years he was chief enginer of the Panhandle (a Pennsylvania line from Pittsburgh to Columbus), the Union Pacific and the Atlantic & Pacific (later the St. Louis & San Francisco railway).

He devoted his life to the making of those glistening lines of steel which bound the fabulous "out West" to the "civilized East." Under his direction slender rails girded the nation, spanning mighty rivers, penetrating mountain ranges and filling peaceful valleys with the smoke of belching engines.

Those were the days when the Union Pacific reached a long tendril to Abilene, Kas., to gather rangy, long-horned steers from Texas plains and sent exploring lines into the western wilderness to drain out new wealth. The name of Blickensderfer was one to conjure with in railroad circles. He was chief and consulting engineer for the Union Pacific and was one of its original corporators. He located the U. P. lines west of Green River, Wyo. Exploits of this advance guard of civilization already have been chronicled in "The U. P. Trail," by Zane Grey, which relates adventures of the boomers who helped the West "grow up."

A FIGURE IN RAIL HISTORY.

He also located and superintended construction of the Oregon Short Line and a number of lines in Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado and Wyoming. One of the Colorado lines, the Georgetown loop, is called one of the greatest feats of engineering in railroad history.

Another of his accomplishments was the Eads bridge. President U. S. Grant appointed him to determine the exact base of the Rocky Mountains. He took an important part in the impressive ceremony commemorating the linking of the Union Pacific with the Central Pacific when the last spikes of the road—made of gold and silver—were driven at Ogden, Utah, May 10, 1869.

Ohio grown walnut lumber, hewed in his mills in Tuscarawas County, his old home, was sent to his home in Omaha to be finished under his supervision. The lumber was cut there to fit his plans and then sent to Oakland to be built into his new home.

However, the Blickensderfers were not to realize their dream home. After packing and shipping her household goods, his wife was stricken while on her way to take a train to her new home. She died in 1888. Her body was brought by special train to Lebanon and taken to Oakland to a new cemetery close by the home she had planned.

This was the first of a series of tragedies which marred the peace of Blickensderfer's retirement. Three of his sons met tragic deaths. One, Jacob, jr., was dragged to death by a mule. Herman, a young engineer, was accidentally shot in Oregon. Edward, a lawyer, was killed by a bucking bronco in Mexico.

AN OBSERVATORY IN HOME.

In the seclusion of his country home, Blickensderfer pursued his hobbies. Much of his time was spent studying astronomy in a small but well equipped observatory on top of his home. Here he had a revolving dome with a powerful telescope.

He had planned to retire from active work at the age of 72, but was repeatedly called out as a consulting engineer until he died at 83.

Since the death of Blickensderfer February 26, 1899, the house has passed from possession of the family to a succession of real estate dealers. The once magnificent mansion slowly is rotting, its empty windows gaping at passersby, its high-ceilinged rooms empty of furniture except when a tenant occupies two or three rooms, scanty furniture grouped around the huge fireplaces. It is now the property of R. L. McDonald of Springfield and the big farm is being cultivated by tenants or neighbors working "on the shares." A tenant is living in the mansion.

The road will be marked from the junction of 66 running south on 5 from Lebanon to the first farm to market road leading east. The ranch can be reached over an all-weather road. Ordinarily the climate is very mild in the Ozarks during this season of the year.

We are located in the famous Ozark Mountain Region within 60 miles of one of the largest inland lakes, with 1,400 miles of shore line, The Lake of the Ozarks; within 25 miles of the Tunnel Dam; within 100 miles of Lake Taneycomo, The Harold Bell Wright Shepherd of the Hill's Country; within 15 miles of the Missouri State Bennett Spring Park and a number of fishing streams close at hand.

From this sale you can go on up to the Roundup Sale. You will have time to look the cattle over there before the sale.

Be sure and be at the ringside Wednesday, February 26, 1936.

Yours very truly,

R. L. McDONALD & SON.

From "The Man In Charge"

In presenting this lot of cattle for our second annual sale, I feel that we have cut into the breeding herd in order to get a lot that will please the most critical buyer. They are outstanding in individuality and breeding.

In this offering there will be 10 small heifers, 10 bred heifers, 10 to 12 cows with calves at foot and the rest all bred cows. A number of the cows will be bred again either to Intense Prince Domino, a bull that will make a wonderful showing this fall in the two-year-old class, or to Prince Domino 67th, a bull that goes in the sale and one that we hesitate to let go of as he is proving a great sire.

Another outstanding bull is Mousel Domino 96th. I would advise you to look this bull over carefully as I predict a great future for him in the showring if properly fitted. He will show as a senior yearling. Another real bull is Triple Prince Domino. He also is bred by the Mousels and will show as a junior yearling. I cannot speak too highly of this calf. He is built close to the ground and has a splendid head. He is a real bull. Prince Domino 70th will make a fine bull as the head of someone's herd. He is young and though he is not as large as some bulls at his age, I think that some of our greatest bulls have been of medium build.

In our female list we have some outstanding cows and heifers. Blanche 83d sells with splendid heifer calf at foot and is in calf again to Intense Prince Domino. Della Mischief 6th also sells with heifer calf at foot and will be bred again to Intense Prince Domino. Belle Blanchard 34th and 35th also sell with heifer calves and in calf again. I would like to say here that these cattle will be tested for T. B., Bang's Disease and Hemorrhagic Septicemia. For those who are looking for good Herefords with good breeding plus individuality, I would advise them to make this sale.

I wish to extend a special invitation to all cattlemen to be at the sale. The sale will be held in a new heated sale pavilion on the farm and everything will be arranged for your convenience and comfort. As many of you will be going to the Roundup in Kansas City, it will not be out of your way to make our sale.

Hoping to see you here, I remain,

Yours very truly,

WM. "SCOTTY" MILNE.

Farm Superintendent.

Fieldmen Give Their Opinion

The draft of Herefords which R. L. McDonald & Son will present to the buying public in their sale on February 26 is composed of a better lot of Herefords than they sold in their fall sale.

The cows in this sale are larger, roomier and possess more matronly qualities than any cows they have previously sold. The bulls, though younger on the average, carry more up-to-date type and breeding than the former offering and should meet with a stronger demand generally. The bred heifers are a useful lot and the calves they are carrying represent the get of a real bull. In fact, the cows and the heifers of breeding age are carrying calves to the service of Intense Prince Domino 2444444, a bull which will be offered in the sale. The open yearling heifers and heifer calves are a splendid lot, and any breeder should be eager to own them.

The McDonald & Son herd features the bloodlines of Prince Domino and Beau Mischief through the most worthy descendants of these two noted bulls, and the dams of the cattle in this sale represent the most prominent cows of Gudgell & Simpson families of breeding.

The offering is composed of 50 head, 10 bulls, 10 cows with calves at side, 10 bred cows, 10 bred heifers and 10 open heifers, and in this draft breeders will find an opportunity to make selections to their liking. The cattle are coming along nicely under the skilled tutelage of Wm. (Scotty) Milne, and by sale day they should be in the right condition to go into any other herd and continue to do well in every way. The cattle are a practical lot, and the breeding should suit all breeders who demand most popular bloodlines.—F. W. FARLEY, The American Hereford Journal.

When R. L. McDonald & Son started in the Hereford business they made a thorough study of pedigrees and finally decided that the thing to do was to build their herd on Anxiety bloodlines and from the many popular families of this strain they selected the Beau Mischiefs and the Prince Dominos. This Beau Mischief-Prince Domino cross has produced many superior animals, not only in the McDonald herd but in other leading herds throughout the country and proves the wisdom of the selections made by Mr. McDonald and his son.

There is probably no more popular cross existing today than this one and buyers will find practically every animal in this sale carrying these bloodlines. They have made good at Arcola Ranch and they will do the same for others. The cattle offered in this sale are a practical lot, in strong breeding condition and just right to go out and do well for their new owners. With the steady advance in values of registered Herefords, especially those of the breeding found in the ones herein presented, it would seem that now is an opportune time to purchase and we take pleasure in recommending this offering to the buying public.—O. R. "PETE" PETERSON, Daily Drovers Telegram.

Birth.

A daughter was born Sunday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Milt Brock.

Yesterday the funeral of the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Brock was held from the house and the remains buried in the LaHarpe cemetery.

MY BABY

I thought when she went away from me,
It was more than I could bear,
Though friends were kind and tried in vain,
My grief to ease and share.
And time went on but I could not smile,
And all I did was pine,
For the child, they laid to rest that day,
Was a baby that was mine.

I thought my darling was lost to me,
That she was far away,
But I was selfish, rebellious too,
Because she could not stay.
The other children laughed and played,
They did not grieve or pine,
How little they felt the loss of one,
The baby that was mine.

Years have passed and one by one,
The children each have gone,
Claimed by one, who loved them well,
And I am left alone.
The world has drawn them away from me,
But it never can touch her shrine,
And now I see that the babe I lost,
Is the only one that's mine.

Clarice Davis Becomes Bride Of Joseph Muir

NUPTIAL vows were solemnized recently for Miss Clarice Louise Davis and Joseph Henry Muir jr. The ceremony was read by Rev. Nuell C. Crain in Wesley Methodist church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Wilkerson, 619 NW 22. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Muir, 2516 NW 15, and the grandson of Mrs. M. M. Brock, Blackwell, who was among out-of-town guests at the wedding.

Miss Nadine Drabeck sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because" before the ceremony. Mrs. Kenneth Woodard played a program of nuptial music and the traditional wedding marches.

The bride chose a white slipper satin dress fashioned with a bertha of lace trimmed with satin flowers outlined with white seed pearls. Her veil of French illusion was caught by a nylon net and satin headpiece also trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a white orchid showered with satin streamers atop a prayer book.

Miss Natalie Barnett was maid of honor for her cousin and bridemaids were Miss Estell Yarbro and Miss Berna Jo Myren. Kathryn Dunbar was flower girl.

PVT. BILL PITTS, Wichita Falls, was best man and ushers were Leonard Shriver and Dannie Hoskins.

The bridesmaids wore floor-length dresses of bronze taffeta with bronze net overskirts. They wore matching net capes and their headbands were of net over gold trim. They carried yellow and bronze gladioli tied with aqua ribbon.

The maid of honor chose an aqua taffeta and net dress of ballerina length. Her headband was identical to the bridesmaids' and she carried a bouquet of bronze gladioli.

The flower girl was attired in a blue lace floor-length dress and wore a pink carnation halo.

Mrs. Wilkerson, mother of the bride, selected a French blue crepe dress wth gray bead embroidery. Her hat was wine-colored maline trimmed with blue velvet flowers. She wore wine-colored gloves and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Muir chose a royal blue crepe dress with rhinestone trim. Her hat was of matching crepe and nylon net accented with pink flowers. She wore an orchid corsage and lace mitts.

Assisting at the reception in the church parlor were Mrs. N. J. Barnett, aunt of the bride; Miss Nancy Hardin, Miss Grace Harkins, Mrs. Bonnie Amos, Miss Mary Lou Dunbar, Miss Pat Poore, and Miss Jane Jo Wyatt.

After a wedding trip to Tulsa the couple is at home at 619 NW 22. For travel the bride chose a brown gabardine suit with which she wore a green blouse and black velvet accessories. She wore a white orchid corsage.

America's Bicentennial Celebration
1776-1976

One of the oldest national banners,
the American flag, is symbolically represented by our Commencement announcement.
Thirteen stars surround our school emblem, and thirteen stripes embrace the Spirit of 76. Two hundred years of American history are behind us, and America's future is in our hands.
We are prepared for the challenge.

PRESIDENT CLAIR M. BROCK of the school board is shown here just after he received his ballot to vote in the annexation election held Monday afternoon at the Newcomb garage. Brock's wife is standing behind him. She also received a ballot.

Brock Becomes Education Board Chief 2nd Time

Clair M. Brock, a member of the board of education for the past six years, Monday night was named president when the group reorganized for the coming year.

Brock previously served the board as president in 1949-50.

"A product of the Blackwell schools, Brock has shown great interest in the school improvement program," superintendent J. Arthur Herron said Tuesday.

He is mechanical superintendent of the Journal-Tribune and lives at 215 North Sixth with his wife Elizabeth, and two children, Steve and Bethany Ann, both students at Lincoln elementary school.

Other offices went to Louis S. Howard, 1310 South Second, who was named vice-president, and to Glenn Stewart, east of the city, who was reelected clerk.

Others on the board are outgoing president Karl Drowatzky, 1210 South Main, and newest member Joe Bishop, 302 East Blackwell.

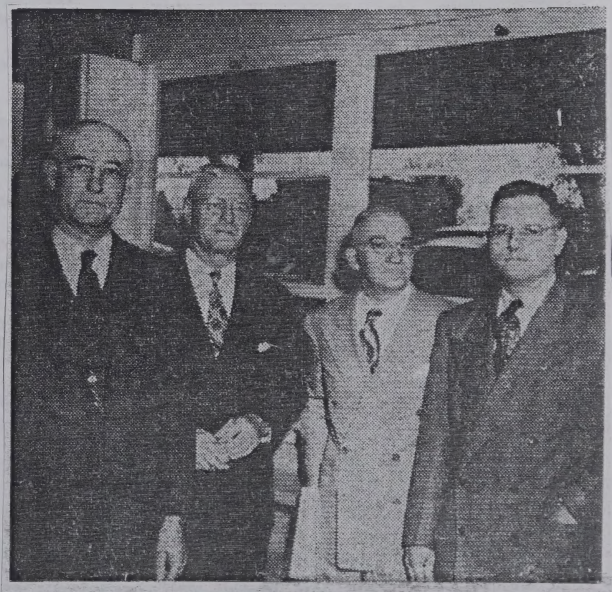
The board further studied the bids handed them last week on the proposed building program which will erect a new gym plant, renovate the old gym into a cafeteria at the highschool, and construct a small administration building.

It was decided that additional time was needed to adequately review all bids and proposals, and that another joint meeting with the architects and contractors would be necessary.

It was announced at the time the bids were received that the lowest, submitted by Langley Construction company of Tulsa, was about $330.-000, and more than was available at this time.

It was believed that certain adjustments can be made in the plans to bring the cost figure down in order that the improvements can be made in time for use in the 1953-54 school year.

In other business, monthly bills were paid and plans were made for the closing exercises of the 1953 term.



THESE FOUR DIGNITARIES took great pride in the open house and dedication services at the new Huston elementary school Tuesday morning. They are left to right, Dr. John F. Bender, former superintendent Harry Huston, Dr. Henry D. Rinsland, and board of education president Clair Brock. Bender and Rinsland are from the college of education, Oklahoma university, and aided in the survey of the Blackwell school plant prior to mapping of plans for the 15-year school building program.

CLAIR BROCK, president of the Blackwell board of education, Saturday issued a statement to the 1953 graduating class: "The board of education extends its heartiest congratulations to the seniors and hopes that the education they have received in Blackwell schools will serve as a good foundation for all future endeavors."

Brock Elected To High Post By Printers

State Typo Union Endorses City's Buy-in-Glass Move

Clair M. Brock, vice-president of the Blackwell Trades and Labor council, was elected vice-president of Oklahoma Typographical conference at a semi-annual meeting in Tulsa Sunday.

One of three delegates from Blackwell, Brock will also serve as chairman of the board of directors by virtue of his selection as vice-president.

Russell K. Bobbitt, secretary-treasurer of the council, and Drexel Fisher were delegates to the conference.

Other officers named were Clarence Scott of Bartlesville, president and Claude E. Braudrick, Ponca City, secretary, both being reelected.

The city delegates presented a "buy in glass" campaign that has been ratified here by the Chamber of Commerce, to the conference and the proposal was adopted unanimously by the conference. Delegates, about 60 in number, were instructed to carry the proposal to the respective unions.

The printers also went on record with a specific resolution urging the fusion of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organization, urging that the two factions "get together." Copies of resolution are to be sent to the joint conference committee of the AFL and CIO in New York, and also to William Green and John L. Lewis.

About 350 printers attended the convention.

Name Eileen Rosalee Brock.

Age 3 mo. 2 ds.

Obituary.

A great bereavement came to the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Smith last week, in the death, from bronchial pneumonia, of two children, within a few hours. Bernice was born Nov. 5, 1902, and died Wednesday afternoon, aged 4 yrs. 1 month and 27 days; Ruth was born Sept. 30, 1897, and died early Friday morning, aged 9 years, 3 months and 4 days. After a brief illness they passed away, and were buried at the same hour, Saturday afternoon.

They were uuusually bright and lovable children, and how keenly their sudden loss is felt, only the members of the stricken family can know. Ruth was a member of the Sabbath School and the Junior society of the Presbyterian church, a quiet, sweet spirited child, manifesting for a girl of her years, a remarkable interest in and knowledge of spiritual things. Among the beautiful flowers that lay on the caskets during the funeral service, was a large bouquet of carnations from the Sunday School members and Juniors, to tell that she had made a place for herself in the hearts of those with whom she associated, outside of the home circle.

A Double Funeral.

Ruth and Bernice Smith, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Smith, were both buried Saturday afternoon in the LaHarpe Cemetery. Their deaths occured only a few hours apart and was caused by the same disease, pneumonia. One was four and the other nine years old. The grief stricken family has the sympathy of all their neighbors.

Grace Smith Dead.

Grace Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Smith of this city died at the home of her parents at 7 o'clock last Sabbath morning. She was born in Anderson county, Kansas July 4, 1891. About three years ago her parents moved to LaHarpe, and this has been her home since that time.

About four months ago she began to suffer greatly from some trouble in the right shoulder. The disease rapidly developed to such an extent that a surgical operation became necessary, and a portion of the bone was removed from the right arm. But the releif was only temporary and not withstanding every care and effort with several weeks of treatment at the hospital the effection spread through the system, and sapped its strength and life. If the sympathy and help of friends and loved ones, and especially the tireless, patient, loving ministration of a mother could have accomplished their desired end, her life would have been preserved.

She was but sixteen, just beginning a life concerning which doubtless she had, as most young folks have, wonderful visions and longing anticipations. It was not at all strange, therefore, that she struggled hard to live and that there were even murmurings at the thought that death might come. But through months of suffering she had learned to trust God as her Father, and to put herself into his hands, believing that it would be well with her whether called to go or stay.

Beautiful flowers covered the casket, and many friends were present at the funeral service to express their sympathy with the stricken family.

April 8, 1907

Vickers-Collins.

Miss Bessie Vickers and Arthur B. Collins, of Long Beach, Calif., were married Saturday evening at 7 o'clock, at the home of the bride's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Vickers. Rev. W. H. Mulvaney, of the Methodist church, performed the ceremony, preceding which Miss Gertrude Mellinger sang "violets." The bride and groom came down stairs, accompanied by the bride's father, as Olker's orchestra played the Mendelssohn wedding march, and took their places in the parlor, in front of a bank of palms. The bride wore white crepe-de-chene and a wedding veil, and carried a shower bouquet of white sweet peas.

Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served. The dining room was presided over by Misses Hettie Mulvaney, Mattie Wilson, Occa Liggett, Lucene Ford, of Florence, and Audrey Dickey, and white violets were used in profusion in its decoration. Olker's orchestra played during the serving. A large number of invited guests attended the wedding. A pretty sentiment in connection with the wedding was that it was on the twenty-seventh wedding anniversary of the bride's father and mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Collins left at midnight Saturday night for Colorado. They will spend a month there and at other points of interest, and will be at home after that time in Long Beach, Calif. Mrs. Collins has made many friends and has taken a prominent part in many spheres of the life of the town since she moved here a number of years ago. She is a graduate of the music department of the College of Emporia, and is a young woman of much culture.

A Mid-Ocean Wedding.

The San Francisco Examiner of January 3 gives the following account of the marriage of Miss Dollie Vickers, of Emporia, and Mr. Fred H. Baldwin, of Whittier, Calif., as well as the pictures of both the young people:

"The Rev. A. Betts, of Long Beach, was celebrant at a most unusual wedding yesterday afternoon, when he united Fred D. Baldwin, of Whittier, and Miss Dollie Vickers, of Long Beach, formerly of Emporia, Kan., on the Banning steamer Hermosa, after the ship was beyond the three-mile limit between San Pedro and Avalon. Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin are spending a honeymoon at the Metropole hotel, Avalon. They will live at Whittier, where the groom is engaged in the fruit business.

"Elaborate plans were laid to keep the mid-ocean marriage a secret. Only A. B. Collins and Miss Bessie Vickers, who accompanied the bridal couple, and attended them at the ceremony, were supposed to be in the secret. But today, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Still, with whom the Misses Vickers have been staying since their arrival here told of the unique marriage."

Obituary Notice.

James A. Means was born Feb. 18, 1874, and died Aug. 18, 1899, and was, therefore, 25 years and six months old. He lived in Vernon County all of his life 'till the fall of 1898, when he went to Colorado, thinking that his health might be improved, for he had been suffering for some time with that dreaded disease, consumption, but instead of getting better he grew worse and after about three months returned to Vernon County.

On the 4th of July, 1899, he was married to Miss Lelia Towner, but after a few short weeks of wedded life the death angel called him to his reward above. He was a kind and loving brother and husband and a dutiful son. He leaves a mother, sister and wife to mourn his departure.

God all wise and God all powerful,
In his pity, grace and love,
Has seen fit to call our loved one
To the blissful courts above.

Death does not regard the station
Or the place we hold in life;
But the young, the old and helpless
Summons oft to leave the strife.

Jas. A. Means, our friend and neighbor,
From this earthly life has gone
Up above to vales of beauty
Winding near our Savior's throne.

This we know for Friday evening,
When requested just to tell,
He made answer to his sister,
"With my soul I'm sure 'tis well."

So while woe our heart-strings tighten
And our lives are full of grief,
We are glad that Christ our Savior
Has vouchsafed to him relief.

And when all our work is ended,
And our summons has been given,
May we go to realms of beauty,
There to meet our friend in Heaven.

A FRIEND.

CHAS. SHEEHAN DEAD.

The sad news came, just as we were about to mail the NEWS, that Chas. Sheehan, the man shot by Marshal Cannon July 4th, is dead. He died about three o'clock Thursday afternoon in the hospital at Iola.

In his reduced condition the operation performed on him to remove the bullet Monday proved too much for him.

No arrangements have yet been made for his funeral.
